OLYMPIC RESOURCE MANAGEMENT RE-OPENS LANDS TO GENERAL PUBLIC ACCESS

Olympic Resource Management, a Pope Resources company, has re-opened its lands to general public access to the following properties effective September 8, 2015:

Hood Canal Tree Farm – properties in Northwest Washington, located in Jefferson, Kitsap and Mason Counties.

Columbia Tree Farm – properties in Southwest Washington, located near Morton, Riffe Lake, Swift Reservoir and North and South of Raymond.

As a reminder, the NW Oregon Tree Farm and McCloud Tree Farm remain closed to public access due to extreme fire danger.

We appreciate everyone's cooperation during this very dangerous fire season.

About Pope Resources

Pope Resources, a publicly traded limited partnership and its subsidiaries Olympic Resource Management and Olympic Property Group, own or manage 193,000 acres of timberland and development property in Washington, Oregon, and California. We also manage, co-invest in, and consolidate three private equity timber funds, for which we earn management fees. These funds provide an efficient means of investing our own capital in Pacific Northwest timberland while earning fees from managing the funds for third-party investors. The company and its predecessor companies have owned and managed timberlands and development properties for over 160 years. Additional information on the company can be found at www.poperesources.com.
